Arguments Bring Knife Orgy in India

CALCUTTA, India (AP) - A quarrel between members of a gambling club and their landlady flared into an orgy of Hindu-Muslim knifing and brick-throwing in the streets Sunday. Five persons were killed and 100 were injured.

Troops were called out and a dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed in East Calcutta. Violence continued into the night with street battles and stoning of cars.

Large-scale fighting erupted after the quarrel between the gamblers and the landlady spread to the opposing religious elements.

Two persons were killed by police gunfire after tear gas failed to disperse the rioters.

As the mob scattered it turned to arson. Two factories and 10 shops were burned during the day.

It is market time again. Before the summer really gets under way, we are off to the city to buy for winter.

If you think we are rushing things, just remember it takes a few weeks to get these things manufactured after they are purchased and time not only marches on . . . it goes in a dead run!

If you slightly envy a buyer and think it is fun to go to market. . . you are so right! If we live to be a hundred we will always thrill to the idea of a new season, the styles, the uncertainty of what and how many, the fabrics, the presentation . . . and the contact with other shop owners. It is like grist for the mill and we like it.

While we are at market, we will fill in on summer things, but in the meantime a few telephone calls has given us fresh stock for the coming weeks. With the end of school and the June weddings, we needed it.

You will like the Jou McCauley mid-summer line. Dacron and cotton, easy-to-care-for fabrics, with the inimitable styling that comes only from the designing room of Jou McCauley. If you have worn a Jou, you will never be without one. We selected the pale blue sheath-skimmer in dacron. So simple we can wear our paisley shoes and bag with it and not feel overdone. The two-piece dacron knit looks like a suit, one can wear a shell with it nicely. And it is slimming because the skirt is navy and the top is white. The plaid gingham is a must in any woman's wardrobe because you can wear it shopping, partying, or for casual dinners at home. It is colorful and washes like no other.

These are all priced from $16.00 up and we invite you to see them today.

We are proud to tell you the Jou McCauley line is shown exclusively at

Court Test on Police Retirement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The attorney general's office held Monday that it would require a court test to determine the constitutionality of a police retirement act passed in 1959.

Assistant Atty. Gen. William R. Haas said he thought the act was unconstitutional on grounds that it was special legislation, but that the Blytheville Police-men's Pension and Relief Fund Board, which had requested the opinion, should continue to credit both municipal and county service toward municipal retirement pending a court test.

The board had said that former Blytheville Police Chief C. W. Short retired in 1963, claiming 19 years on the force and six years as a deputy sheriff toward his retirement benefits.

Act 297 of 1959 provides that police pension boards in cities of 16,200 to 16,250 population may credit toward municipal retirement the time a policeman spends as a deputy sheriff. The act also limits its application to counties having two judicial districts.

Teamsters Favorable to Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) - Teamsters Union members have voted four to one in favor of a new national contract in what the acting head of the 1.8-million member union called an affirmation of its democratic operation.

Ratification of the pact, which will provide a 76-cent an hour boost in wages and fringe benefits over three years, was announced Monday by Frank Fitzsimmons, Teamsters general vice president.

Fitzsimmons, who headed union negotiations in the absence of imprisoned Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, said: "The conduct of this referendum and the results should put at ease the minds of those who continually tell the world that only a small minority in the union has a say-so" in contract talks.

The Labor Department supervised counting of ballots in what the Teamsters said was the biggest union mail vote ever.

The pact earlier had been accepted by a national committee representing some 12,000 trucking firms.

Negotiations on the contract started in January and broke down last month into a three-day lockout by trucking firms and strikes by independent union members in Chicago.

For some 500,000 Teamsters, the contract means a 25-cent an hour wage hike this year and 15 cents hourly each of the next two years. Other terms will up mileage payments, increase health and welfare benefits, pensions and vacations and provide for any increases in the cost of living.

Wages before the new agreement ranged from $3.32 to $5 an hour, with the higher figure reflecting long-distance mileage payments.

Fitzsimmons said about 70 percent of those eligible voted in the referendum.

Paper Workers to Take Vote

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) - About 900 employees of the International Paper Co., will vote Tuesday whether to follow union recommendations and reject the three-year contract offered by the company.

Three union are negotiating a new contract with the paper mill. The old contract expired last Wednesday.

A union spokesman said it would be at least June 10 before a strike could be called if the workers rejected the company offer because the old contract required a 10-day waiting period and the strike would require another union vote.

The unions are the Papermakers and Paperworkers, the Sulphite Workers and the Electrical Workers.

Mississippi Man Claims to Be 126

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS COLUMBIA, Miss. (AP) - Sylvester Magee, who says he marked his 126th birthday Monday, pointed to the blue sky above and mused:

"The reason I've lived so long is because I believe in the Man upstairs."

Born a slave, Magee claims to be the oldest man in the United States. He says his birthdate was recorded in a family Bible as May 29, 1841, at Carpel, N.C.

The Bible was destroyed three years ago in a fire. And there are no records to prove Magee's claim of fighting for the Union during the Civil War.

However, several historians researched Magee's life and helped him convince the Veterans Administration to accept him for treatment as a Civil War veteran when the old Negro contracted double pneumonia last year.

Magee looked back in wonder on the past year when he gave up women and took up smoking. "I'm just getting too old," he said with a wrinkled grin.

"Time was when I couldn't stay away from the women, but time has caught up with me."

Only last month his divorce from a 60-year-old wife was made final. Magee said his wife, Marie, deserted him in 1953 after bearing his one child, a girl born Sept. 3, 1950.

According to his lawyer and unofficial guardian, Arlington Jones, Magee's pleasures today are smoking cigarettes and just walking in the sunshine over the pine-tree-dotted hills of southern Mississippi.

"He's always been a tobacco chewer," said Jones, "but it has only been recently that he's started smoking."

The attorney said Magee actually looks younger now than he did two years ago because "his whiskers are falling out from his face."

Magee, whose home is a cement block house surrounded by junked cars and appliances, thought of his long life and said: "I don't drink any hard stuff, no. A little wine now and then, maybe - grape, raspberry, you know - but no liquor."

Remembering the days of his slavehood, Magee said: "Abraham Lincoln was the greatest man that ever walked this earth! Yes sir, God bless him! He freed me from Mister Hugh Magee!"

It was during the 126th year of his life that Magee rode in an airplane for the first time - from Mississippi to New York City. At that time, last February, he predicted he would live to be 170.

Now he is not so sure. "I don't know," he said on his birthday. "The Master brought me this far. I know I'm going to go home when I leave here. I'm not going to hell! No sir!"

Shakeup in Vatican Curia Seen

By BENNET M. BOLTON VATICAN CITY (AP) - A major shakeup in the Vatican Curia, the central administration of the Roman Catholic Church, is expected following Pope Paul's designation of 27 new cardinals.

Fourteen of the 27 men the pontiff chose Monday are members of the Curia or its diplomatic service. To move them up the ladder, Vatican sources expect major changes in the Curia soon, including perhaps the replacement of the secretary of state, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, 84, and of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, 76, one of the church's leading conservatives who heads the Congregation for Doctrine of the Faith, the former Holy Office.

The abbot primate of the 12,000-man Benedictine Order, a largely conservative monastic order that is strong in the Latin countries, also was promoted out of his job by being selected for a cardinal's red hat.

The 15 promotions will mean at least 150 changes all down the line as the prelates named cardinal move up from their present jobs and other churchmen step up to fill vacancies at many levels.

Only the 12 residential archbishops - three Americans, two Frenchmen, two Italians, an

Fruit & Chips Make Tasty Dippy Desserts

Fruit-rich dips served with potato chips make really ethereal confections for the dessert course. Cloud-light and sweetly tart, fruit and chip dips are especially fine toppers for buffet suppers, patio cook outs. They are a happy choice, too, as a sweet to conclude a more formal company dinner.

Here are two favorite fruit dip recipes as a starter. Serve these and then see how inventive you are in concocting your own special recipe:

Sugar Plum Party Dip
1 large can (1 lb. 14 oz. Blue Plums)
½ teaspoon mace
½ cup powdered sugar
½ pint commercial sour cream

Pit and sieve the plums. Add mace and powdered sugar. Blend with sour cream. Refrigerate for at least two hours. May be served in individual dessert dishes, or from a large bowl, surrounded by crisp potato chips for dipping.

The recipe for today's other fruit and chips dip follows:

Apple-Banana Chip Dip
1 can (No. 2) thick apple-sauce
2 mashed bananas
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup thick sour cream

Mix all ingredients. Chill for two hours. Serve with potato chips for dipping.

Dear H but D: It's the best way to LOSE fifty bucks! And the poorest way to "become rich as a song writer." If not, you'll never sell it big on your own. — H

Dear Helen: I am 13 and have a problem: my parents. A few weeks ago I forgot my house-key and had to break down the door. Seems like a stupid thing to do, but it was raining and I had to do something fast.

Well, my father had a fit when he had to buy a new door.

A few days ago I forgot my key again so I took a screw driver and tried to open the lock. I ruined the lock, which will cost my Dad some more money. When my mother came home, she couldn't get her key in the lock, so she had me climb through a window, which pretty well ruined the window, too, as it had to be jimmied open.

Now I know I was wrong and I am willing to give up my camp money to pay the damages, but do you think I should be grounded? — KEY LOSER

Dear K. L.: Wouldn't a better idea be to "ground" an extra key in a safe hiding place under the porch? But if you're grounded, spend the time doing odd jobs around the house — and you may STILL earn your camp money. — H.

Rose, Perez Keep Reds Up Front

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pete Rose-Tony Perez entry is giving Cincinnati's front-running Reds that wire-to-wire look in the National League derby.

Rose and Perez kept long hitting streaks alive Monday night as the Reds divided a double-header with St. Louis to remain 1/2 lengths ahead of the second-place Cardinals.

Perez' ninth inning triple and a sacrifice fly by Dick Simpson gave Cincinnati a 7-6 victory in the nightcap after the Cards captured the 11-inning opener 2-1 on Bob Gibson's six-hitter.

Rose, playing his first season in the Reds' outfield, stroked five hits — including three doubles — in the twin bill, running his hit string to 25 games. Perez, who recently made the switch from first to third base, had an 11th inning single in the first game and two hits in the nightcap, extending his streak to 16 games.

Tom Haller, sent into the game as a pinch hitter in the fifth inning, wound up driving in five runs and leading San Francisco past Philadelphia 12-9 while Len Gabrielson hammered a three-run homer, powering Los Angeles to a 7-2 victory over the New York Mets in the only other games on the schedule.

Rose lashed two doubles and a single in the nightcap at Cincinnati, helping the Reds salvage a split despite the efforts of Cards' center fielder Curt Flood, who drove in five runs with a homer and two singles before being sidelined by a pulled hamstring.

Flood's two-run homer in the seventh tied the score at 6-6, but the Reds won it in the ninth on Perez' leadoff triple, a pair of intentional walks and Simpson's run-scoring fly to center.

In the first game, Gibson struck out 12 Reds on the way to his sixth victory against four losses. Cincinnati clipped him for a run in the seventh on Tommy Helms' double and Leo Cardenas' single. The Cardinals broke the 1-1 deadlock on 11th inning doubles by Tim McCarver and Julian Javier.

At San Francisco, Haller drove in a run in the fifth with a force-play grounder, then drilled two-run singles in the sixth and seventh as the Giants opened up a 12-3 lead.

The Phillies closed the gap with a six-run burst in the ninth, Tony Taylor and Don Lock driving in two apiece before reliever Lindy McDaniel got the last out.

Gabrielson rapped his first homer of the year with two aboard in the Dodgers' four-run fifth, helping rookie Bill Singer record his first major league victory. Singer needed relief help from Ron Perranoski in the eighth after giving up nine hits.

Ex-Dodger Tommy Davis boosted his batting average to .342 with a double and two singles, driving in both New York runs.

Buckpasser After No. 15 Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The mighty Buckpasser, unbeaten in 14 starts and holder of the mile record, makes his return to the races today as the highlight of the whopping Memorial Day program.

In all, some 400,000 fans are expected to wager around $35 million at the nation's thoroughbred tracks today, with Aqueduct, Garden State Park, Hollywood Park and Arlington Park claiming the lion's share.

Buckpasser, a 4-year-old son of Tom Fool and owned by Ogden Phipps, is part of an Eddie Neely-trained entry with Stupendous, winner of four of nine starts this year and owned by Mrs. H.C. Phipps, for the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap at one mile. The entry is almost certain to be the odds-on choice of some 60,000 at New York's Aqueduct.

Dr. Fager is the likely favorite in a tiny field of four going in the $100,000-added Jersey Derby at Garden State Park. In Reality, Gallant Moment and Air Right are the others in the 1 1/2-mile test for 3-year-olds. Each carries 126 pounds.

Dr. Fager, winner of six of seven career starts, likes the track at Aqueduct but is going in the Jersey Derby for one reason, said trainer Johnny Nerud: "I don't want him going against Buckpasser, who is the best since Citation."

Assagai, 1966 grass course champion, heads a field of eight for the $40,000-added Round Table Handicap at Arlington. It's 1 1/2 miles on the turf, and should be Assagai's last race before meeting Buckpasser on the grass at Aqueduct June 17.

Fourteen 3-year-olds, headed by Tumiga, are scheduled for the $50,000-added Will Rogers Stakes at Hollywood Park. Tumiga, beaten only once, has high weight of 120 for the one mile.

Buckpasser, with unrivaled credentials, picks up top weight of 130 pounds—giving away as many as 23 to his opponents—in his first race since suffering a quartercrack in his right front hoof in mid-January.

He's won 23 of 25 career starts with two seconds, became the first 3-year-old to become a million-dollar winner, and was the 1966 horse of the year.

Eight others are scheduled to go in the Metropolitan, the first leg of the New York Handicap Triple. If all start, the race will carry a value of $112,200 with $72,930 to the winner.

Should Buckpasser take it, it would put his winnings at $1,344,154 and place him third on the all-time list, behind Kelso and Round Table.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate, first in four stakes this year, is the No. 2 choice by the track handicapper at 6-1. Advocate will carry 122 pounds.

It has been estimated that 90 per cent of Canada's population live within 200 miles of the U.S. border.

Plan a Draft
NEW YORK (AP) — The major leagues' free agent player draft will be held in New York June 6-7, Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert announced Monday.

Trades May Get Orioles the Pennant

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Dalton, engineering his second major baseball deal in less than 18 months, may have traded the Baltimore Orioles to their second successive American League pennant.

Moving to bolster Baltimore's struggling pitching staff, the Orioles' vice president swapped promising but unproven youngsters Mike Epstein and Frank Bertina to the Washington Senators Monday for veteran left-hander Pete Richert.

Epstein, who had gone home after refusing to report to the minor leagues the lined his objective on getting a chance to prove he has major league ability.

The Orioles, meanwhile, added to their starting rotation a pitcher who won 29 games during the past two seasons the eighth-place Washington, although his record so far this year is 2-6 with a 4.64 earned run average.

As far as opposing clubs are concerned, looking at the immediate effects of the trade, the Orioles picked up Richert for Bertina.

Richert, 27, was rated by Dalton as "one of the top left-handers in baseball...the quality pitcher we have been looking for since last fall."

Bertina, 23, has appeared in 29 games for the Orioles during the past four seasons n has a 1-1 record this year. Baltimore officials have long rated him a potential winner.

Dalton maintained that the Orioles were not forced into the deal because of Epstein's refusal to return to Rochester, where he played last season and gained minor league player of the year honors.

"We were drawn to the deal because Richert was available to us, and we have been interested in him for sometime," Dalton said. "We merely analyzed our pitching to see what we needed, and what deals we could make. "We have said all along that we wouldn't trade Epstein unless we could come up with an outstanding pitcher."

The 24-year-old Epstein, who had been unable to dislodge 25-year-old Boog Powell from first base and failed in a trial as an outfielder, said from his wife's home in Stockton, Calif., that he had just about given up hope that a deal would be made before the June 15 trading deadline.

"I had made up my mind that baseball and I had parted," the slugging first baseman said. "I'm elated it turned out this way. All I want is a chance to play."

Two Nations to Enter Games

TOKYO (AP) — Belgium and Sweden have filed formal entry applications to participate in the International University Games in Tokyo Aug. 26-Sept. 4, the Tokyo University Organizing Committee said today. This brought the number of participating countries to 37.

Last year, when a bizarre, chain-reaction crash at the start knocked out 11 cars, only six other cars were running as England's Graham Hill scored the second straight victory by a foreign driver with a modest 144.317 m.p.h. average.

And only four went the full 200-mile race.

In 1965, Scotland's Jim Clark won an almost mishap-free race in the present record time of 150.686 m.p.h. But only 12 of the original 33 starters survived mechanical trouble and spin outs to be still throttling at the finish.

And only five completed the 500 miles before the finish flag cleared the track.

In 1964, a tragic flaming crash killed Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald and knocked seven cars out of the race on the first lap before A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won his second title with a 147.350 m.p.h. record time.

Eleven cars were still running when Foyt got the checkered flag, but only five accomplished the full 200 laps.

In the 1963 race, Jones won with a 143.137 m.p.h. average speed and the 13 surviving rivals all were able to finish.

It was almost the same story for route performers in the 1962 race, won by now retired Rodger Ward with 143.137 m.p.h. Less than half the 33 starters, 15 cars, were still running and completed the full distance, blastoff.

Two of the last three races had catastrophic mishaps at the very start of the scheduled 200 whirls around the 2 1/2-mile asphalt oval.

But even under normal conditions, the sizzling pace, this year reflected by a 10-mile average qualifying record of 164.173 miles per hour—almost 4 m.p.h. faster than last year—figured again to be a survival of the fittest among the array of power plants. These ranged from Parnelli Jones' highly touted turbine car, an Indy first, to the noisy rear-engine breed of various pedigrees.

Jones, starting in the second three-car lane behind pole-sitter Mario Andretti, Dan Gurney and Gordon Johncock—all in Ford powered cars—had to contend with a jinx that wiped out an average of 23 cars the past three years.

Fast Field Starts the Big 500

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Wear and tear, as well as fate, sent a batch of uncertain favorites as well as snarling motorized "field horses" off as approximately 3 to 1 potential finishers in the Memorial Day 500-mile Auto Race.

Chances brightened for continuance of the Big Indy's fabulous weather luck with a revised forecast of only possible light showers threatening the 51st motor classic before more than 300,000 thrill hungry fans.

If the pattern of past grueling tests of 33 dare-devil drivers and finely tuned, costly racing machines prevails, the mad chase after a record $700,000 total purse will become a sort of motorized Custer's Last Stand after the 11 a.m., EST blastoff.

Gray Thinks This May Be His Year

FORMBY, England (AP) — The quiet American looked over the Formby golf links today and said: "This might be my year."

Downing Gray, from Pensacola, Fla., in his unassuming way advanced into the second round of the British Amateur Golf Championships with a 5 and 4 victory over Mike Jordan of England.

"This is my kind of course," the 29-year-old Gray said. "You have to hit straight and fortunately that's what I'm doing."

"Gray was one of 27 Americans left in the field for the second day's play — and many experts thought Gray and Bill Campbell were the Americans most likely to win."

Both Gray and Campbell agreed that this course on the edge of the Irish Sea was playing like an American lay-out.

"This course does not punish players for the wrong reasons," said Gray. Campbell agreed.

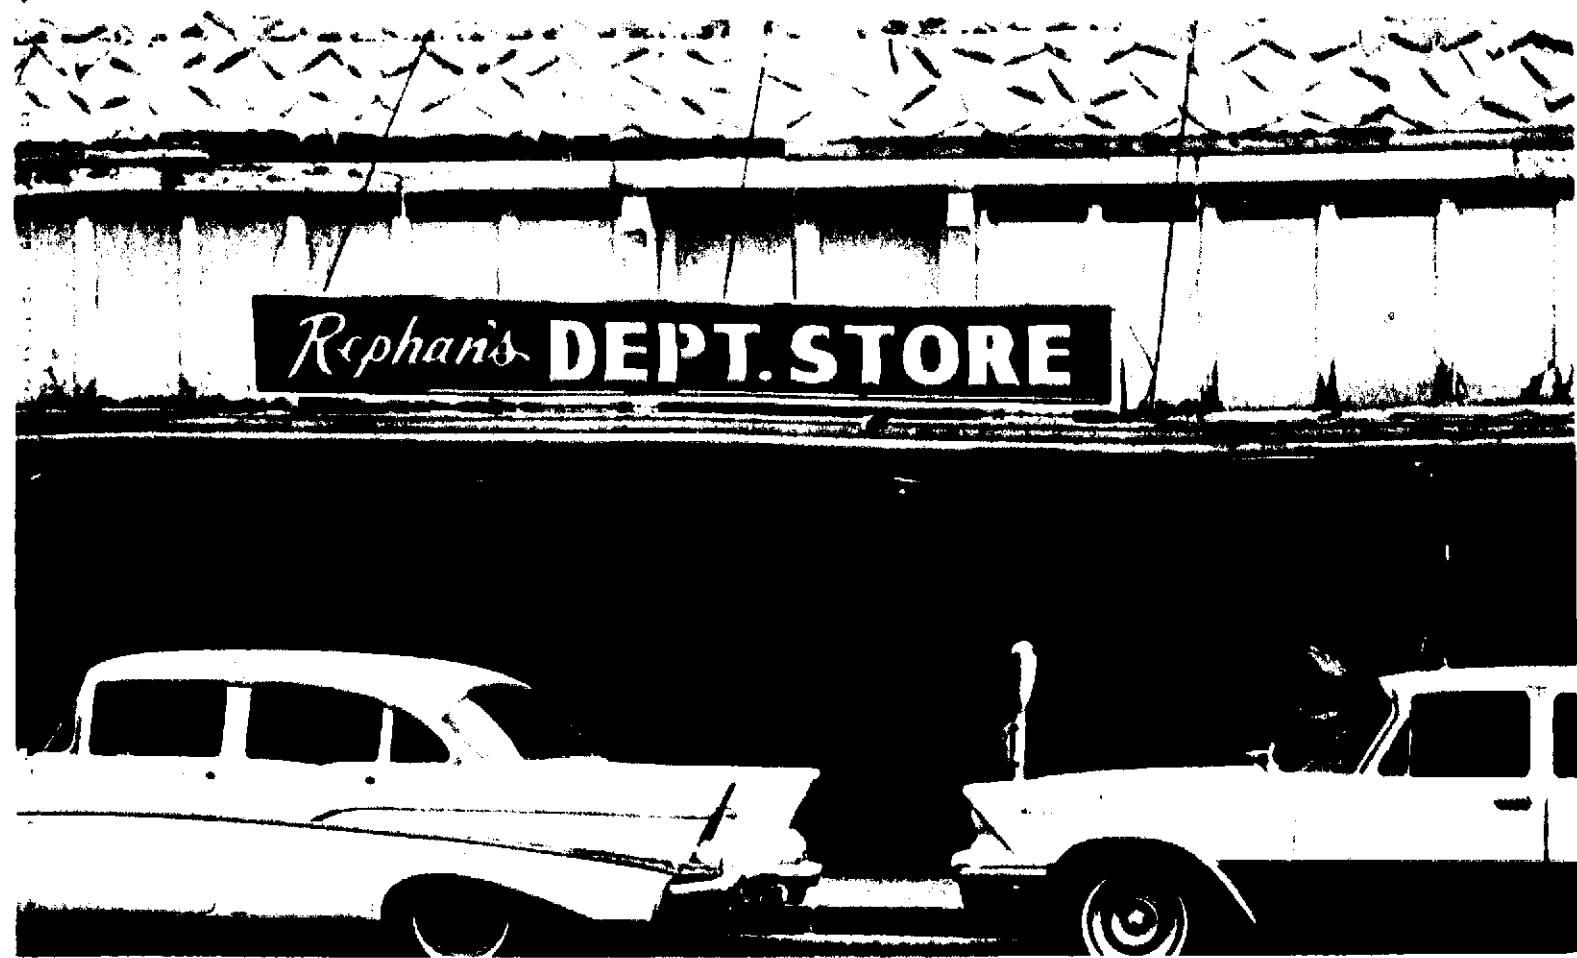

Gray, who has won the British Amateur twice, is looking for a third title. He is the only American to have won the title.

U.S. Continues to Cling to Policy of Silence on Mid East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States clung today to a policy of silence on the Middle East crisis, with officials hoping secret diplomacy would find a way to avoid an Israeli-Arab war.

A State Department spokesman, who declined Monday to answer any questions about U.S. moves in the crisis, said his silence was "merely designed not to tilt the balance of diplomacy which we've worked so hard to achieve."

He was understood to mean diplomacy and restraint on both sides so far had staved off a showdown and created time in which a solution to the underlying problem may be found.

Egypt has threatened a blockade of the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba against Israeli ships and any ships carrying what Egypt describes as strategic goods to Israel.

Information available here is that virtually all shipping through the Strait of Tiran into the Gulf of Aqaba destined for the Israeli port of Eilat is under non-Israeli flags.

A critical aspect of the blockade is the flow of oil to Eilat and whether the Egyptians consider oil a strategic cargo in terms of their blockade policy.

Normally, it is said here, Israel has obtained 90 per cent of its oil from Iranian fields on a regular schedule involving deliveries at six-day intervals by four Libran-flag tankers.

From Eilat the oil has been piped to Haifa on the Mediterranean coast where it is processed in a refinery.

Whether Israel might find alternative sources of supply temporarily or arrange for shipments directly to Haifa is a question which authorities here are either unwilling or unable to answer.

The State Department reported Monday that a retired diplomat, Charles W. Yost, has been sent to Cairo to consult with Ambassador Richard Nolte and other embassy officials. He is to spend several days there, then return to Washington for consultation at the State Department.

Officials said Yost was not carrying any message or special instructions and was not expected to confer with any Egyptian officials.

Yost retired from the Foreign Service early last year after serving as ambassador to Syria and Morocco and deputy U.S. representative to the U.N. Security Council. Nolte is new in the Cairo post.

It was learned that American officials are convinced neither Israel nor Egypt possesses nuclear weapons. At least two inspections by U.S. experts, in 1964 and 1965, reportedly disabused the U.S. suspicion that the Israelis were producing plutonium for atomic weapons at their Dimona reactor near Beersheba.

Monday night a Department of Defense spokesman said a shipment of .50-caliber machine-gun ammunition which left an arsenal near Independence, Mo., for Israel earlier in the day was filling a sales order made four months ago.

In Washington, the Synagogue Council of America, representing the three branches of American Jewry, called for a national fast day to demonstrate support of Israel in the crisis. A spokesman said the fast would probably be held Thursday.

Americans in Tribute to War Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Aboard a turn of the century battleship. In Philadelphia, before the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington and in streets and squares across the land, Americans honor their war dead today.

As the nation gathered for its 99th Memorial Day, young GIs were fighting halfway around the world in Vietnam and echoes of that struggle were sounded in most of the day's observances.

Some groups planned to mark the day with protests. In Chicago the committee of Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam expected more than 1,000 persons to attend its second annual Memorial Day service for peace in Vietnam.

In Washington, a group calling itself the Ad Hoc Veterans' Committee for Memorial Day Peace Action planned a procession with muffled drums and black-draped flag to protest the war.

More commonly however, the observances were billed as Loyalty Day parades and focused on support for the GI's fighting in Vietnam and for administration policy there.

The most spectacular ceremony, as usual, was planned for Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from the nation's capital before a white marble tomb inscribed: "In honored glory, an American soldier known but to God."

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was to represent President Johnson at the 11 a.m. wreath-laying ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, then speak at the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day service.

Memorial Day — also known as Decoration Day — stems from the Civil War when some Southern women decorated the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers on May 30.

In 1868, Gen. John A. Logan, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, a veterans organization, named May 30 as a special day for honoring the graves of Union soldiers.

In one ceremony today, a wreath will be laid at the monument to a private soldier at Antietam Battlefield, near Sharpsburg, Md., scene of one of the bloodiest clashes of the Civil War.

In Philadelphia, veterans of the Spanish-American War will gather aboard the USS Olympia, the battleship from which Admiral George Dewey led the attack on the Spanish fleet in 1898, and toss a wreath into the Delaware River.

Memorial Day is celebrated in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and U.S. territories. Eight Southern states also celebrate a Confederate Memorial Day either before or after May 30.

Rephan's Department Store, downtown Hope, is currently undergoing a facelift. The building will get a new front, new floor, ceiling, lighting and a new air conditioning system.

Whitey Ford Is Expected to Retire

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, the winningest Yankee of them all and the pitching ace of a one-time baseball dynasty, was expected to call it a career today.

The New York Yankees called a press conference — they said it would concern Ford — prior to their doubleheader with Minnesota today. Published reports that Ford would announce his retirement were general and widespread.

Neither Ford nor the Yankees bothered to deny it. They simply declined comment.

Ford, a doughty little left-hander with a pixie sense of humor, has had two operations on his pitching shoulder, the last Aug. 25, 1966 after he had only a 2-5 season record.

He had a good spring this year — even though he went to training camp without a contract — but has only a 2-4 record. The club recently disclosed that he has developed a bone spur on his left elbow.

Ford, 38, was born and raised in New York. He came to the Yankees mid-way in the 1950 season, posted a 9-1 record, won a game in the Yankees 4-0 World Series sweep of Philadelphia and then spent two years in military service.

When he returned, he forged one of the greatest pitching records in history. His 236 career victories is the best in Yankee history and his career 236-106 won-loss record represents one of the best percentage marks ever achieved in the majors.

Ford, clever and concise, pitched on 11 Yankee pennant winners and holds a flock of World Series records. Included are most victories (10) starts (22) and strikeouts (94).

One of his major accomplishments, and one that pleased Ford the most, was smashing Babe Ruth's World Series pitching record for consecutive scoreless innings.

He broke the record with consecutive shutouts in the 1961 Series against Pittsburgh and added another in 1962, running his string to 33 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings.

The stocky, 5-foot-10 blond won 20 games or more only twice (25-4 in 1961 and 24-7 in 1963) but he was long the mainstay of the Yankee pitching staff and the man called on when the team had one of those must-win situations.

"He's my stopper," said Casey Stengel, Ford's first manager.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Funny Money

What if you discover that a dollar bill, recently acquired by you, is a counterfeit? Your quick reaction might be:

"This thing is a hot potato. I'd better unload it onto somebody else as fast as I can."

But if you do, you will be committing the serious crime of passing counterfeit money. True, you do have a hot potato on your hands. But it is folly to add to the minor mistake of accepting the money the major mistake of passing it along.

Your duty is plain. Notify the local police department or the United States Secret Service at once, giving as much information as you can about when, where, and from whom you received the bill. No, you will not be reimbursed for the one dollar. But you will be helping to curb one of the most ancient and persistent of crimes—one that has been given a new lease on life by modern techniques of printing and engraving.

In the roster of criminals, the counterfeiter is something of a maverick. He is seldom motivated by sudden passion or by grinding poverty or by personal inadequacies. He has time enough for planning, money enough for equipment, and talent enough for manufacturing. He is a cool customer who knows exactly what he is doing.

However, merely passing—unlike manufacturing—counterfeit money may occur in perfect innocence. It is part of the government's job in prosecuting to prove that the person who passed the counterfeit money knew (or at least thought) that it was counterfeit. Consider this case:

An intoxicated fellow, caught spending counterfeit money in a bar, denied that he knew it was bogus. At the trial, the government told the court:

"Shortly before this man's arrest, he burned a $5 bill to light his cigar. So he must have known the money was no good."

But the court was not convinced beyond a reasonable doubt, and dismissed the charge. The judge said it was quite possible for a drinking man to burn real money—just to show off.

In another case, though, there was evidence that the defendant, when he realized detectives were on his trail, flushed his counterfeit money down a toilet.

This time, the defendant was convicted. The court found no reasonable explanation for this behavior except a guilty conscience.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gravel and sand washing operations by the Dulin Bauxite Co. polluted Gulpha Creek and Lake Catherine at Hot Springs, state Pollution Control Commission Dimentary Education Major at Arkansas A.M.&N. College and is now employed in the Nevada County School System in Prescott.

The wedding will take place June 4th at the Pentecostal Temple in Hope.

rector S. L. Davies decided after a hearing here Monday.

Davies said the company had halted the operations and hadn't decided whether to resume them, but that he would issue a cease and desist order as soon as the commission's attorney could prepare the papers.

The order would require the company to build a sedimentation dam to clear the water of waste before it returned to the creek.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The forests of Guyana, the newly independent country in South America, contain some of the fiercest animals in the world. The pingo, a savage pig, often travels in packs of up to 200 and is not above attacking hunters, says The World Almanac. A school of piranha fish could reduce a cow to a skeleton in minutes.

This is the finest coupe made in America

This is the Lincoln Continental Coupe. It is the only two door hardtop we make.

Other luxury cars sell three or four variations of a coupe. This is not the Continental way.

We take all the good things we can offer in a luxury motor car, and we put them all in our coupe. When you own a

Lincoln Continental, you own a complete car. The practice of putting a little more of this, and a little less than that in look-alike variations, is a game we don't care to play.

If you're tired of playing games, consider Continental. Unquestionably, the finest coupe made in America.

Lew R. Merrell,
Chicago Notable,
Tours Star Plant

We had a most interesting visitor last week — Lew R. Merrell, veteran Chicago newspaper and magazine man, brother-in-law of Crit Stuart of Hope.

Mr. Merrell's calling card was the very best a visiting publisher could produce — a copy of his own publication. His publication is a famous guide book: Lew Merrell's Chicago and Street Directory & Chicago-O'Hare International Airport Guide. The 1967 edition carries a page on the personal history of the founder.

Lew Merrell is a native of Princeville, Ill., played quarterback for Northwestern University in 1904, and attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts to study art and cartooning.

He was at various times a staff cartoonist for the South Bend (Ind.) Daily News, the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Arkansas Gazette, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, and the Chicago Examiner.

His only interruption of a newspaper career was to join his father, the Rev. Frank W. Merrell, in running a family plantation near Washington, this county, later returning to Chicago.

In 1939 he originated the Chicago Bears Football Magazine, being still affiliated with the Bears organization; and subsequently founded the Chicago-Land Guide which is now his principal activity.

I showed Mr. Merrell through our new offset printing plant, demonstrated the famous new Berkeley color separator — and all along had a feeling I was in the company of a visitor with vast more publishing experience than myself . . . a feeling which my later reading of his personal history verified.

Mr. Merrell was born in 1886, which would make him 81 the day I took him through our plant. An active and remarkable man.

Nor has he lost the home-area touch. His guide book carries several paragraphs on the founding of the new community of Perrytown, Ark., and an entire page on Washington, Ark., with pictures of both the restored Tavern and the Confederate Capitol.

Says U.S. in Arms for Self Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top military man said today the United States has had to resort to arms in self-defense because "violence has been the chosen means of predator nations to gain their objectives."

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said "some day, if men become wiser, nations may learn to settle their disputes by employing reason, not violence."

But unfortunately, Wheeler added, "such a world has not existed up to this time."

Wheeler spoke in remarks prepared for Memorial Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

The setting for the ceremony was the white marble amphitheater surrounded by the graves of more than 143,000 Americans who have worn military uniforms.

Wheeler's speech did not refer specifically to Vietnam except to note some 500 American fighting men killed in that war already have been buried at Arlington.

The four-star Army general said the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have died in all the nation's wars have not died in vain.

"They would have died in vain if we confine our respect for their memory to strewing flowers on their graves on Memorial Day," Wheeler said.

Asks G&F Commission to Resign

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller declared last week that he would begin asking state board and commission members for their resignations.

The governor confirmed Monday night that letters to the seven Game and Fish Commissioners had been mailed last week. He didn't say whether similar letters had gone to any other board or commission members, but the state Highway Commission has drawn his repeated criticism, both during his 1966 gubernatorial campaign and during the 1967 legislative session, when he called for independent audits of both the Highway Department and the Game and Fish Commission.

Game and Fish Commissioner Raymond Farris of Biscoe said the letter he received from the governor asked for his resignation by noon Friday on grounds that Rockefeller had "promised an accelerated program and thought he could get along better if he could name a commission of his own choosing."

Rockefeller, contacted at his home on Petit Jean Mountain, said he would have no comment on the content of his letter unless he saw it published.

"In my letter to the Game and Fish Commission, I said I was not going to make the letter public," he said. "I said I was available to discuss the contents of the letter with them, and until we had reasonable time for them to get in touch with me, I would stay with my word and make no comment. They can talk, but I won't, because I said I wouldn't."

Few of the commissioners were feeling very talkative. The three available for comment Monday night had little to say except that they knew of no reason why the governor should have requested their resignations.

Farris said he thought Rockefeller's letter was in "very poor taste."

Gathering for Memorial Day

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — The Kennedy family is gathering at their Cape Cod compound for Memorial Day.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the President's widow, and her two children, Caroline and John Jr., arrived Saturday.

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., are expected to join the family gathering.

Garbage Men on Strike

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Only garbage collection for two city hospitals continued here after hourly wage employees of the Pine Bluff street, sewer and sanitation departments went on strike Monday.

Arlie Kleiner, president of Local 966 of the Arkansas Council of State, County and Municipal Employees, said about 80 union members and 10 non-union employees are on strike.

The union is seeking $1.70 an hour for truck drivers and $1.50 for other workers, Kleiner said. J. L. McAllister, superintendent of the sanitation department, said drivers are paid $1.50 an hour.

Memorial Traffic Deaths 445

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the extended Memorial Day weekend appeared running behind last year's record high but safety experts expect the final toll will reach the pre-holiday estimate of 650 to 750.

The latest figures showed 445 persons had been killed in traffic accidents since 5 p.m. local time Friday. The tally for the four-day holiday period ends at midnight tonight.

Lonely Man Is One Who Has No One to Remember This Day

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following Memorial Day column, written in 1957, has found its way into many family scrapbooks. It is reprinted today as still timely.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — America today wears a sprig of rosemary over its heart for remembrance.

A miracle of resurrection takes place in millions of households as the dead come home again — and walk the earth once more in gladness.

Their presence is invisible to the eye, inescapable to the spirit. For this haunting day of return they are as alive as we.

The loneliest man in the land is the man who has no one to remember on Memorial Day. He is indeed a soul lost — a stranger on the earth — a pilgrim going from nothing to nowhere.

For it is the memory of the dead that in great measure keeps us human, that sets us apart from stone and star, moss and mole, and all other feeling and unfeeling prisoners of the great jellor, Time. "What is Memorial Day?" asks the child. "Will I get a present — like on Christmas or my birthday?"

It is a hard question to answer. How can we, who are ourselves childishly bewildered by the mystery of both life and death, explain the puzzle of that living-loving death we call memory?

Perhaps the best answer you can give a child is to say, "Memorial Day is the day when everyone anyone ever knew is alive, and nobody is dead."

Isn't that about as close as you can get, anyway? The dead have far more power over our lives than we ordinarily realize. We read dead men's books, sing dead men's songs, obey dead men's laws. Dead men taught us to sow the earth and reap the harvest. Dead men won us our present perilous safety — we especially honor them this day — and to dead men we owe our finest visions of heaven.

Every step upward we take in life has been made possible by the sacrificial steps taken by our guardian dead. As the preacher man says, what is our own breath but a brief mist on the surface of death's endless deep.

Earth is pocketed by more tombs than there are living men to journey to them. And so it is one must pick and choose which dead to revisit on Memorial Day, which to spend a moment with — or talk to for an hour.

Mostly, of course, we spend the time with those dearest to us through personal grief — the lost relative, the absent friend, the cherished neighbor who moved away forever.

But on this day I like also to pick up old books and bring to life again old comrades of my spirit I never knew in the flesh — fellows like John Keats, Thomas Hardy and Thomas Wolfe; girls like Sara Teasdale, Emily Dickinson and Mother Eve.

It is a corruption of Memorial Day to make of it a journey into sadness and scalding self-pity. It should ideally be a shared voyage of rediscovery. For how often, when we summon up the memory of our dear dead, are we surprised to find that through some mystic alchemy we now understand them better and appreciate them more than when they walked dally among us!

Perhaps, on Memorial Day, the dead may even feel the same way toward us, the living. It will may be. Surely, if life has a perspective, death does, too.

Baptist Meet to Feature Dr. Martinez

Dr. Angel Martinez, one of the nation's leading Southern Baptist evangelists, will open a week's crusade at First Baptist Church in Hope next Sunday, June 4. It was announced today by Rev. Gerald W. Trussell, pastor.

Convict's Petition Dismissed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge William J. Kirby dismissed here Monday the handwritten petition of a state penitentiary inmate seeking his release on grounds that he had been deprived of his constitutional rights before he was sentenced.

William Delbert Orman, who was sentenced here Feb. 21, 1964, to 21 years in the penitentiary on each of five robbery charges, contended that North Little Rock police hadn't asked him whether he wanted an attorney.

Police Capt. Eddie Munns introduced a confession in which Orman stated that he was guilty and had been advised of his rights.

Planes Hit, Knock Out MIG Base

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force Thunderchief jets attacked one of North Vietnam's major MIG bases again today, cratering the runway and thwarting Red efforts to get the field back in operation.

The raid on the Hoa Lac airfield 20 miles west of Hanoi was the ninth since it was first hit April 24.

Ground action was generally light, enabling most American units to hold at least brief Memorial Day services. Some of the larger units dedicated Quonset chapels built during the past year.

The deputy Army commander in Vietnam, Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer Jr., messaged American troops: "The American soldier is fighting and dying in Vietnam in the same selfless way he has fought and died in other wars on distant battlefields. We who are fortunate enough to be alive owe an everlasting debt of pride and gratitude to our fallen comrades. They shall not be forgotten."

U.S. military headquarters said initial reports of the Hoa Lac raid indicated the field was again made unusable. Returning pilots said antiaircraft fire around the field was heavy but no North Vietnamese MIGs rose to challenge the raiders.

A spokesman said the raiders flew through generally clearing skies in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, which has been covered by clouds for the past few days. He declined to comment on a report from Washington that raids have been diverted, at least temporarily, from the Haiphong-Hanoi area to supply routes to the Communist forces in South Vietnam.

However, no significant strikes have been made inside or very close to the two major North Vietnamese cities since just before the 24-hour truce May 23 for Buddha's birthday.

Since then a major effort has been made against the rail lines north from Hanoi to Red China and against supply lines south to the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam.

The spokesman said 120 missions were flown over North Vietnam Monday, again concentrating on road, rail and water traffic from the Hanoi area south to the border. The Navy said one strike hit Red shore batteries near Thanh Hoa that were shelling Navy destroyers off the coast. There was no report of which ships were involved or whether any were hit.

Scattered ground fighting was reported in the Mekong Delta, the central highlands and in the U.S. Marine area just below the demilitarized zone.

Israel Vows to Reopen Gulf to All

By HANS BENEDICT

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel said today it would "undergo every sacrifice" to reopen the Gulf of Aden to all ships.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban made the Israeli pledge at a news conference a few hours after the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported that a Liberian-American tanker was barred from the gulf early Monday by a warning shot from an Egyptian patrol boat. But the U.S. State Department said it knew of no such ship in the area.

Eban said Israel will "have nothing to do with any suggestion or arrangement which provides that all ships can go through and Israeli ships cannot."

Free transit of the gulf — the route for Israel's oil supply — is a "vital national interest which will under no circumstances be surrendered or abandoned . . . and on which our nation stakes all it has and will undergo every sacrifice," Eban declared.

Referring to his talks last week with officials in Washington, London and Paris, Eban said it had "become clear that other powers are prepared to make common cause with us for the restoration of the situation."

The foreign minister also cited the Egyptian troop buildup in the Sinai Desert, on Israel's southwest border, and said Israel had responded with the buildup of its own forces which is "at least corresponding to the Egyptian measures."

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser claimed Soviet support for his blockade of the gulf, the sole outlet for the Israeli port of Eilat and the main route for Israel's oil imports.

Rules Pension for Family of Officer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Trooper Ermon Cox hadn't qualified for a pension when he was killed in the line of duty in 1958, but his widow and her minor children are entitled to a $1,000-a-year survivors' pension, the attorney general's office said Monday.

The opinion said the eligibility of Mrs. Helen Cox and her son and daughter, who live near Paragould, was established by a state act providing pensions for survivors of probationary officers killed in the line of duty.

It said, too, that Mrs. Cox need not refund the $100 that she withdrew under a prior law. Cox had paid the money into the State Police Retirement System before he was shot to death Aug. 17, 1958.

Court Rules Church Deal Carelessness

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The fraudulent sale of church building bonds to an insurance company and a bank resulted from carelessness on the part of the church, the Arkansas Supreme Court held Monday in reversing an earlier decision by Pulaski County Chancellor Kay Kathews.

For that reason, the court said, the First Methodist Church at Mena should be required to pay both the First American National Bank of North Little Rock and the Christian Foundation Life Insurance Co., for the bonds.

Associate Justice George Rose Smith, who wrote the Supreme Court Decisions, said the church apparently had no knowledge of the duplication of some $35,000 worth of bonds by its fiscal agent in 1964, but that it had been careless in permitting its treasurer to use the duplicate method of signing the bonds instead of doing it manually. The Supreme Court said the duplication of the bonds was "due to the fraud of the late Lawrence Hayes, former president of the Christian Foundation Life Insurance Co., for the bonds."
